Criticism of the Marxist theory of criminology has tended to focus around the fact that much of the theory can really be seen as an ideological condemnation of Western democracies and a call for revolutionary action to overthrow them, (Akers & Sellers, 2009; 240) and not truly a criminological theory with implications for our criminal justice system. Other critics contest the claim that Critical Theories: Marxist, Conflict, and Feminist Critical Theories: Marxist, Conflict, and Feminist. At the heart of the theories in this chapter is social stratification by class and power, and they are the most politicized of all criminological theories. Sanyika Shakur, aka Kody Scott, came to . embrace this critical and politicized view of society as he grew older and converted to Afrocentric Islam. Shakur was very much a member of
